Salvation Songs

Tunes—"We Shall Win," 113; "Welcome to the Lord," 114.

We're a band that shall conquer the Lord.
If we fight in the strength of the Lord,
With the sword of the Spirit, we know
We sinners to Jesus shall bring.

Chorus
I believe we shall win,
If we stand in the strength of the King.
We have conquered in times that are past,
And scattered the foe from the field;
So we'll fight for the King to the last,
And the sword of the Spirit we'll wield.

Our foe may be mighty and brave,
And the fighting be hard and severe;
But the King is the Mighty to Save,
And in conflict He always is near.

In the name of the King we will fight,
With our banners unfurled to the breeze;
We will hold for God and the right,
And the kingdom of Satan we'll seize.

Ever true to The Army and God,
We will fight in the name of the King.
We shall win with the five and the lions, (Sings)
And the sword of the Spirit we'll wield.

STO BARNER OPEN-AIR PAVILION
—The Vaughan and Portico
Sunday, Aug. 8—Major Elms in command.
Sunday, Aug. 15—Major Peacock in command.
Sunday, Aug. 22—Commissioner Kato (including the Commissioner) and Aug. 23.

LETTERBRIDGE, Alta.—Since the visit of our Leader, Commissioner William Eadie, God has wonderfully blessed us. Open-air attendances are much increased and many souls are being converted through the faithful and earnest work of Assistant Chaplain, Lieutenant Brett and the contraband; the Commissioner's converts are proving real soldiers of the cross, and testify in the open-air and inside meetings. Thank God, our brother, Fire Chief Harry Jones has been assisting Lieutenant Brett at the week-end, July 3-4. A hearty welcome was extended to Lieutenant Joyce, Lieutenant Rehorechuck, Calgary II, Corporal Lieutenant Clapham, Winnipeg, and Brother and Sister Rowland, from Drumheller, who recently paid a visit to their home. Corporal and Sister Wallace of Saskatoon. The future prospects of our work for God and souls in this city are bright, both from a spiritual and financial standpoint. Praise God.—H. D.

MEDICINE HAT, Alta.—We have and Major Goodwin, D.C., and Captain Sanderson with us for nine days in the absence of the Corps Officers, who are on furlough. We appreciate the sacrifice the Major has made in leaving his office for so long and thoroughly enjoyed the reasons of help and blessing.

Arriving early Sunday morning, the Major, assisted by the Captain, took on throughout the day, giving the public and soldiers a sample of old-time blood and fire Salvation Army meetings both outside and in.

Our Young People's Corps welcomed them very sincerely. The temperature in the afternoon was 80 and over, but while the weather was against indoor meetings we held extra open-air, the Band playing and singing.

Our prospective Candidate was sworn in as a soldier on Sunday night. While we were not holding a public service during the Major's stay, we are believing that "read as this direction, under the blessing of God, have been signally successful. Thousands of its soldiers and Officers of every tribe and nation date their conversion from the moment they came in contact with the compelling influences of an Army open-air service. The words "compel them" suggest aggression, and this aggression was fully demonstrated by Commissioner Eadie in the campaign conducted by him at Winnipeg Beach last week-end. See full report, this issue.

ASSINIBOIA, Sask.—Sunday, July 4, will be a day long remembered by us, particularly the Young People. Seven Juniors sought Christ. In the afternoon six boys from one Company came forward, and a young woman named "Judgment." At the close six souls sought Salvation.—C. Cadet B. Newbury.

RAVENSCRAIG, Sask.—Praise God again for victory. We had another stirring meeting at Ravenscraig on July 4, when two souls knelt at the mercy-seat, and a number of the congregation raised their hands for prayer. Interest is sustained and the spirit of conviction is working in the hearts of the people. We are looking forward to further advances.—F. W.

THE COMMISSIONER IN COMMAND

FROM its inception The Salvation Army has striven to carry out the injunction, "Go ye into the highways and byways and compel them to come in"; in fact, to quote an utterance of its Founder, "It was born in the open air." In all parts of the civilized and uncivilized world, its efforts in this direction, under the blessing of God, have been signally successful. Thousands of its soldiers and Officers of every tribe and nation date their conversion from the moment they came in contact with the compelling influences of an Army open-air service. The words "compel them" suggest aggression, and this aggression was fully demonstrated by Commissioner Eadie in the campaign conducted by him at Winnipeg Beach last week-end. "But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you."—Acts 1, 8.

You say, "Can we have this power equally with the early disciples?" I say, reasoning by analogy, assuming that what God has done in the past He will continue to do in the future. It is not likely that He will give it to us, because we equally need it—we poor things, in our day, as they did in theirs, equally need it, first, because the character of the agents is the same.

We are very much like them, and they were very much like us. Thank God, it has often occurred to me that they had been men of gigantic intellects and extraordinary education, training, and position. We might have said: "Can we ever be such as they were?"

Encouraging for All
They were men of like passions, weaknesses, tendencies, liability to fall, with ourselves—just such frail, weak, easily-tipped-up creatures, and, in many instances, unbelieving and disobedient, before Peter. Alas! I say this in encouraging for us all.

Did they not all forsake Him and, except a few poor faithful ones, all the world forgot Him and in the hour of His extremity, left you, Jesus, who I do not do myself. I would not watch with Him one hour. I have betrayed Him to my friends and acquaintances the world. My courage has failed. I have failed to witness for Him. Oh, I know and agree with you that was true ingratitude. You were a

For a month past the town of Chatham has been rejoicing with the chorus, sung to the stirring tune of "John Brown's Body."

With Jesus in the family it's a happy, happy home.
A happy, happy home.

Crowds of men and women gathered around the Salvation Army headquarters meetings have sung it lustily; many have whistled it on their way to work; many have sung it in barracks, and bluejeans on board ship; newbies wearing pieces of Salvation Army ribbon on their ragged coats have given it mouth; drinkers in the public-house have joined Salvationists in singing it; and in houses where the name of Jesus is never mentioned the little silver uncles have "plugged" their parents with it until they, too, have gone to the Army meetings and augmented the ever-growing chorus.

This unusual etc in the otherwise well-ordered life of the town has been brought about by the presence of a contingent of women Cadet-Sergeants, who, under the leadership of Mrs. Commandant Wright, have been conducting a moral self-saving campaign, and incidentally adding to their field training. As a result of their efforts 150 men, women and children have sought Salvation, some under extraordinary circumstances.

At the Rise of the Curtain
Arrogant souls have been pointed to God on the sidewalk, in the hospital, at the Naval and Military Home, and at open-air meetings outside the city walls.

The Magic of a Smile
When the gentle word's so easy,
And the kindly mood's so sweet,
Why not smile the way the first?
For the folks you chance to meet?
Why not, when thought troubles thicken,
Face the trial, dare the worst,
With a look as brave and buoyant
That you rust it from the first?
Why may vanquish deeds and goblins,
If the fight was done worth while,
By the valiant front of patience
And the magic of a smile.

Power to Serve

NOTES FROM AN ADDRESS BY THE LATE MRS. GENERAL BOOTH

With Special Application to those who are holding back from doing God's Will because they fear they are not able to do what He requires of them.

Will you come and let Him baptize you with His power? Will you learn once, and for ever, that it is not a question of human merit, strength or deserving at all, but simply a question of submission, obedience, faith?

And what is our work? To go and subjugate the world to Jesus; everybody we can reach, everybody we can influence, and bring them to the feet of Jesus, and make them realize that He is their lawful King and lawgiver; that the devil is a usurper, and that they are to come and serve Christ all the days of their lives. Dare any of us think of it without this equipment of power? Talk about "Can we have it?"—we are of no use without it. It is promised to all believers to the end of time. The conditions you know—simply putting away everything that hinders, casting aside every doubtful thing, tramping it in the dust; then a full, whole-hearted surrender to Him, embracing the Cross, embracing His will at all costs and sacrifices.

God Holds Us Responsible
Let me remind you—and it makes my own soul shudder and reel when I think of it—that God holds us responsible. He holds you responsible for all the good you might do if you had this power. Do not deceive yourself. He will have the five talents with their interest, and he will not dare to go up to the Throne and say: "Thou hast not sown, and gathering where Thou hast not sown, and gathering where Thou hast not sown. Thou knowest thou art to save souls, and Thou hast not the power."

WOMEN CADET-SERGEANTS' WONDERFUL CAMPAIGN AT CHATHAM, ENGLAND—STIRRING INCIDENTS

in the town, the officer commanding the troops asked if they would give a "concert" in the theatre. They at once agreed, and being billed as "The Salvation Army Band," they were welcomed by a crowded house, the general and his staff being among those present. When the curtain rose and disclosed the stage filled with women-Salvationists the enthusiasm was unbounded. Two red-hot Army meetings were held with the men, not a few of whom subsequently attended the gatherings at the Naval and Military Home and sought Salvation.

One night four sailors brought a sergeant to the home with them. In the middle of the meeting he jumped up and said, "I have to be in by nine o'clock. Can I be saved before I go?" A prayer meeting was started during which he found mercy. He left his barracks with a song of encouragement ringing in his ears.

Workhouses and hospitals were regularly visited by the Cadet-Sergeants. In one ward they saw a man who said: "I shall seek Salvation when you come again!" and next day when accompanying, they heard him exclaim: "I've found it! I've found it!"

Cold words freeze people, hot words scorch them, bitter words make them wrathful. Kind words produce their own image on man's soul; and a beautiful world is it.
God has made it so that love given most unfailingly come back an hundred fold; the more we give, the richer we are.

going to 'pick up' my neighbors and get them saved." Next morning he sent a message to the General saying, "Come round; I am sure my neighbor will get saved." Her expectation was fulfilled, for the woman sought the Saviour.

A girl of seventeen, who was getting tired of hand, sought Salvation in one of the meetings. Next morning, her mother being away, she got up early, changed her dress, and did the washing. Her father was so impressed by this that he said: "If the Salvation Army could do this for you, I'm going too." He went, and was among the seekers. Afterwards he said, "I can't understand it, but somehow I feel as if a ten weight had gone."

On her way to the Naval and Military Home a Sergeant spoke to a man about his soul. Reaching the Home, she invited him inside, and ran into the dining-room where the other Sergeants were having dinner, exclaiming: "Leave that fellow's man who wants to be saved!" He was pointed to God, and the Sergeants then went to finish their dinner.

Each night the Sergeants marched from the meetings to the Naval and Military Home, where they were welcomed. Sometimes the hour was midnight, but they always sang, and were followed by crowds of people. One night men and women were heard to say, "Can I come to Jesus?" The next day they got a handsome card, which invited them to the home, and in the early hours of the morning were pointed to God by the sergeants, who, with enthusiastic Salvationists.

The man who gets angry suffers more than the person who is the object of his wrath.
If everything everybody wished were to happen, what a mess the world would be in.

Prosperity that comes by sacrificing the interests of the higher life is too dearly won.

With universal chill,
And smitten by the silent sun,
That seldom may be seen the rivers run,
The lands are tree again.
—T. T. Lynch.

Expediency is men's wisdom. Doing right is God's.

What will He say to you? "Wicked and doleful servants out of their own mouths will I judge them." You know where you could have got the power. You know the power. You might have had it. Where are the souls you might have saved? Where are the children that I would have given you? Where is the fruit?"

These are solemn and awful realities. Observe what you might do! Who can tell? Who would ever have thought, twenty years ago, when I first raised my voice, a feeble, trembling woman, one of the most timid and bashful the Lord ever saved, the hundreds of precious souls that would be given me? I only refer to myself because I know my own case better than that of anybody else; let me ask you, supposing I had held back and been disobedient to the Heavenly vision, what would God have said to me for the loss of all this fruit?

A Question for You
Who can tell what God can do by any man or woman, however feeble, however faint, if only fully given up to Him? He holds you responsible. What are you going to do with your self?

The world is dying—souls are being delivered from sin and Satan every day. Men are running to destruction. Torrents of iniquity are rolling down our streets and through our windows. God is almost tired of the cry of our sins and impurities going up to His ears. What are you going to do? Will you set to work? Will you get this power? Will you put away everything that hinders? Will you have it at all costs?

Some Vital Statistics
"You have had an extensive and strenuous campaign, Commissioner?"
"Yes. Perhaps a few vital statistics of our doings would be of interest. As you are aware, we were away over eight weeks; of this time almost a week was spent on trains and boats. That leaves fifty-three days available for direct public effort, and when I tell you that we held ninety-six meetings you will see that this figures out at an average of almost two meetings per day. There were seventy-eight ordinary Army meetings, four Rotary Club addresses, two golf services and eleven Officers' Councils. The smallest audience we had was nine, and the largest fourteen hundred. One hundred and one souls leapt at the mercy-seat."

Impressions of People
"From my observation the people all appear to be prosperous on every hand, and there is little evidence of general need or poverty anywhere; that is, it has not come to my notice on my travels. People were telling me everywhere that the prospect for a bountiful harvest was very great, particularly in Southern Alberta, where they have had heavy rains. Although I am deeply interested in the physical and material well-being of the people of Canada West, it is almost needless for me to say that I am far more deeply interested in their spiritual condition, for my firm conviction is, and has been for many years, that when the spiritual condition of a people is good, their material needs are met."

From an Army Point of View
"As far as my impressions of Canada West from an Army standpoint are concerned, the one thing that gripped and started me was the limitless opportunity for good."

Good Intentions
God never accepts a good intention instead of a good action, and the desire may be so much the contrary, that if a good intention is not accompanied by a good action, the want of that action is made so much the more criminal and unnecessary.

Hiring workers are the shoddy workers. Volunteer workers are not like some coral skeletons, which are only good for the sea-cally cut when first quarried, but soon become as hard as adamant.

Interview With Commissioner Eadie

Territorial Commander, Canada West

FEELING confident that readers of the War Cry would be glad to obtain some up-to-date information regarding our Leader's general impressions of Canada West, its people, and of his command in particular, we waited our opportunity, and immediately on his return from his recent extensive campaign sought an interview with him. The request was granted and the appointment made.

We found our Leader literally immersed in matters pertaining to his administrative responsibilities. He had just been received that The General desired the Chief Secretary, Colonel Turner, to forewell within the next few weeks; consequently the Commissioner has had of necessity to take an even more direct oversight of the executive side of affairs at Territorial Headquarters.

Many Claims Upon Him
He had just been in close conference with Brigadier Taylor, Secretary for Field Affairs, when we entered, but notwithstanding the many claims upon his time and the multifarious matters requiring his personal attention or decision, he had all made for the moment and received us with that kindly courtesy which has already become closely associated with the personality of the Territorial Commander of Canada West. Apart from looking somewhat tired, the Commissioner was as alert, as buoyant and as aggressive as when he left the "Hub" two months ago.

Some Vital Statistics
"You have had an extensive and strenuous campaign, Commissioner?"
"Yes. Perhaps a few vital statistics of our doings would be of interest. As you are aware, we were away over eight weeks; of this time almost a week was spent on trains and boats. That leaves fifty-three days available for direct public effort, and when I tell you that we held ninety-six meetings you will see that this figures out at an average of almost two meetings per day. From an Army Point of View
"As far as my impressions of Canada West from an Army standpoint are concerned, the one thing that gripped and started me was the limitless opportunity for good."

Good Intentions
God never accepts a good intention instead of a good action, and the desire may be so much the contrary, that if a good intention is not accompanied by a good action, the want of that action is made so much the more criminal and unnecessary.

Hiring workers are the shoddy workers. Volunteer workers are not like some coral skeletons, which are only good for the sea-cally cut when first quarried, but soon become as hard as adamant.

By humility and the fear of the Lord are riches, and honor, and life.

Men are rich not in proportion to their service, but to their benevolence.

tunities we have for reaching the people with the Gospel. My contact with them of late (and I would remind you that over fifteen thousand people attended our meetings on the recent campaign) convinced me that the hearts of all men were freely open to us. Our duty is to go to the people, in the Army way, wherever they are.

The Campaign at Winnipeg Beach bears this out. Think of the many thousands we influenced for God and The Army last week-end! We simply went to the people and presented the claims of God in the good old Army method, and the attention of the people was held.

A More Daring Spirit
"I am impressed that what we need, both Officers and soldiers, is a more daring spirit, which will enable us to approach and come in vigorous contact with the people and the human conscience. If everyone will strive to realize our great opportunities, to stride straight from the shoulder and strike red-hot, then there can be no question of a surprising awakening and revival taking place."

"I am further impressed that what we need also is a more pronounced individuality as it pertains to our spiritual experience. We need it in the individual, and we need it as an organization, possibly more than ever we did. We need to follow a strong line, a humble line, have a strong confidence in God and in our own right arm. God is with us."

"Were there any outstanding features in any of the meetings, apart from the fact that you were in command?"

Need to Magnify One's Office
"Our greatest need of the installations of the seven Divisional Officers. They were bright, happy people, but nevertheless when the actual dedication took place they were most solemn and impressive. There is a possibility with us not to value or give the respect due the different positions in the Army. I believe with Paul the Apostle that it is very necessary for one to magnify his office, and I am more than ever convinced that the Divisional Officers should do so, for he holds one of the most responsible and influential positions in the Army—responsible and influential because of the human element which enters into it. He is close up with and has considerable to do with the determining of the eternal destiny of men."

"The Officers, Commissioner; how do they impress you?"
Canada West Officers
"Personally, I do not think a smarter, more clean-cut, out-and-out company of Officers could be found in any part of the Salvation Army world. I might say that on the recent campaign I saw every Officer in the Territory with the exception of those of Mrs. Eadie, other than I observed, was unable to Northern British Columbia, and one or two that were unable to come to their respective Divisional Centres because of sickness or extenuating circumstances over which they had no control. The testimonies of our Officers are most brilliant and convincing. They have education and are able to give expression to their thoughts; have powers of imitation. But there is a need, however, of a greater vision, as I said before, of our opportunities in the Territory. The majority of Corps have very fine halls, but after all it is the people we want, the people we must go after, and the people we must get."

Our purpose is to raise the standard, and live up to the standard; to keep to the foundation truths in our utterances—the evil of sin; the call of God to repentance; the ultimate ultimatum to Him will; the complete abandonment of self to His service and His service of men. We should ever keep in mind that God will not do for us what we can do for ourselves; but when we reach the limit line, shall I say, of our capacities, God steps in and accomplishes in us and through us according to His good pleasure. "Excuse me, sir"—it is the Commissioner's Private Secretary. "Colonel Turner wishes to know whether it is convenient to see him now."

"Yes; at once."
We rise to take our leave, and as we do so, thank the Commissioner for the interview.

"There is just one more word. I want to say how grateful I am for the faithful and untiring support rendered me by Brigadier Phillips and Captain Munro on the campaign, and for the kindness and hospitality of the Officers and friends everywhere."

"Needless to say, I was very disappointed that in the Territory with the exception of those of Mrs. Eadie, other than I observed, was unable to Northern British Columbia, and one or two that were unable to come to their respective Divisional Centres because of sickness or extenuating circumstances over which they had no control. The testimonies of our Officers are most brilliant and convincing. They have education and are able to give expression to their thoughts; have powers of imitation. But there is a need, however, of a greater vision, as I said before, of our opportunities in the Territory. The majority of Corps have very fine halls, but after all it is the people we want, the people we must go after, and the people we must get."

We must get. Their conversion is our first interest, and making them into out-and-out Blood-and-Fire fighting soldiers the second. We must get off the beaten track, the old road, and strike out for the open country, shall I say?

The War Cry
"You will probably be interested to know that we sang out of the War Cry in most of our meetings. Not one deprecatory comment on our War Cry reached me; in fact, from what I can gather it has been received with universal favor. I consider it the greatest power for spreading the Gospel that we have. It certainly has the largest audience of any one of us, including myself, and I am in close personal contact and influence with thousands of people in the course of a year. This fact alone should convince Officers, soldiers and all concerned of the desirability of increasing its circulation and contributing to its columns."

"How about the future, Commissioner? Are you prepared to discuss any of your prospective plans as they affect the development of the work in the Territory?"

"Not at the moment; but I might say that, God willing, I intend to march forward with greater aggression than ever this fall and winter, and shall depend upon all doing likewise—Officers, soldiers, recruits and converts."

Vigorous Aggression Required
"There was never a time in the history of the Christian church when the spirit of aggression was needed more than it is today, and personally I believe the time is ripe for a spontaneous response to such a spirit."

"Our purpose is to raise the standard, and live up to the standard; to keep to the foundation truths in our utterances—the evil of sin; the call of God to repentance; the ultimate ultimatum to Him will; the complete abandonment of self to His service and His service of men. We should ever keep in mind that God will not do for us what we can do for ourselves; but when we reach the limit line, shall I say, of our capacities, God steps in and accomplishes in us and through us according to His good pleasure. "Excuse me, sir"—it is the Commissioner's Private Secretary. "Colonel Turner wishes to know whether it is convenient to see him now."

"Yes; at once."
We rise to take our leave, and as we do so, thank the Commissioner for the interview.

"There is just one more word. I want to say how grateful I am for the faithful and untiring support rendered me by Brigadier Phillips and Captain Munro on the campaign, and for the kindness and hospitality of the Officers and friends everywhere."

"Needless to say, I was very disappointed that in the Territory with the exception of those of Mrs. Eadie, other than I observed, was unable to Northern British Columbia, and one or two that were unable to come to their respective Divisional Centres because of sickness or extenuating circumstances over which they had no control. The testimonies of our Officers are most brilliant and convincing. They have education and are able to give expression to their thoughts; have powers of imitation. But there is a need, however, of a greater vision, as I said before, of our opportunities in the Territory. The majority of Corps have very fine halls, but after all it is the people we want, the people we must go after, and the people we must get."

A good conscience is to the soul what breath is to the body; it preserves a constant ease and serenity within us, and more than counteracts all the calumny and calumnies which can possibly befall us.—Addison.

Men are rich not in proportion to their service, but to their benevolence.

What Lord Fisher told the King A Practical Tribute to Salvation Army Women

The only recorded instance of the Lord Fisher's contact with the Salvation Army occurred in the early days of the war, and it was thoroughly characteristic of him. That great sailor or was instructed by His Majesty the King to visit a number of local committees and inquire into the administration of the Prince of Wales Fund, opened, it will be remembered, to relieve special cases of distress.

In executing this commission Lord Fisher called upon the chairman of the Tottenham District Committee, and among other questions asked what was being done to cheer up the wives of sailors and soldiers. The chairman explained that before the committee was formed a Salvation Army Adjutant and came forward and suggested that The Army should undertake this particular work, and that he had asked to it twenty women who had tender hearts and cheerful countenances.

Lord Fisher, on hearing this, clapped his hands and said: "Splendid! That is the best arrangement I have heard of yet. I will tell the King about it."

Death and Resurrection

"The Lord is cheerful." There is a beautiful count in parts of Sicily when the fishermen are going on some expedition into the deep sea. Their wives and children accompany them to the shore, and as they embark they raise all together their voices in a hymn of praise to God; and as they put out to sea, the boatsmen answer to those on the shore in an anthem of devotion, verse after verse, until their voices are heard in the distance. So we today stand on the shore of eternity, and as our souls put forth and the deep and peace from our sight, we raise the song of confidence, "Christ is risen," and the answer comes back from the bosom of that boundless ocean, "Christ is risen indeed."

In a part of London that need not be named a work of Christlike mercy is being done by Salvation Army Officers among a people who are poor and almost beyond compare. Though educated and refined and, many of them, accomplished, they are virtually penniless. While being Russians by birth and upbringing they are all British subjects on account of marriage or parentage, and they have been reduced to their present plight through the war and the revolution. To the number of 400 they are living together under government protection, hoping perhaps to obtain employment or get back to Russia. One lady has 25,000 roubles in paper in her box, but of course cannot realize them.

For the cheer and comfort of these Russian Salvation Army meetings are being conducted daily by Captain Augusta Vetsak, a Russian Officer, who will be returned to her own country as soon as an entrance can be obtained. The Captain has been assisted by one or two Officer-comrades from round about, but she would be grateful for further help from any officers who can offer services.

Being of refined nature and good social standing, the refugees naturally feel their position acutely, and when on a recent Sunday afternoon some of the men heard Captain Vetsak praying for them in their own language, they broke out into weeping. The Captain taught them to sing in Russian:

Oh, for a dearer, Oh, for a dearer,
Oh, for a perfect love in the land.

Another afternoon after an Officer and a young sister Salvationist had visited Captain Vetsak, the latter, who perhaps some of the Russian friends, if converted, might like to offer a testimony when someone a lady rose and said: "We are here that you might help our wounded hearts. We came to learn from you and to be comforted by you."

A number begged to be given Rus-

The Commissioner Returns to the "Hub"

ON RETURN FROM HIS STRENUOUS TWO MONTHS' SALVATION CAMPAIGN RECEIVES WARM WELCOME
HOME—CONDUCTS MEMORABLE COUNCIL WITH STAFF OFFICERS

Commissioner Eadie, our beloved and highly esteemed Territorial Commander, and party, were met at the depot by Colonel and Mrs. Turner and a company of Officers on their return to Winnipeg on Tuesday, July 27, and given a warm welcome home. On the following evening the Commissioner entertained the city Staff Officers at supper at the Training Garrison.

This was followed by what might be termed a "Welcome Home" meeting. In the forepart the Commissioner, dedicated in a very impressive and solemn manner the children of Major and Mrs. Peacock, Master Donald Knight and Dorothy Elizabeth.

At the conclusion of the dedication the Chief Secretary had charge of the proceedings, and called upon Brigadier Major and Adjutant H. G. Carter, who extended a welcome to our leader, on behalf of the Senior and Junior Staff Officers.

Other speakers were Mrs. Commissioner Eadie and Mrs. Brigadier Phillips. Mrs. Eadie in her remarks referred to her health, and stated that she was better and stronger than she had been for some considerable time. The announcement that she hoped to be "on the warpath" in the near future called forth many expressions of pleasure from the Officers.

Both Brigadier Phillips and Captain Mundy, who accompanied and assisted the Commissioner on the campaign, spoke of his untiring efforts. "I have never more proud of our Commissioner than I am tonight," said the Brigadier, "and he has done it with greater faith in God and The Salvation Army." He also spoke of the kindness of the Officers and others who had entertained them. "Everyone strained every nerve to do their best for us."

Important Changes in United States

The Commander Remains in Charge—
Commissioner Beall and Colonel
Pearl Under Farewell Orders

The General spent last Friday in New York City on his way to international Headquarters from his recent campaign in Australia and New Zealand. After an all-day conference with the Commander, The General agreed to the program for the reorganization of the United States command, which for some time has been under consideration. The plan is far-reaching, and it is one which in some of its features was outlined by our Founder and first General, and which, but for the conditions arising out of the great world war, would doubtless have been made effective long ere this.

In view of the wide experience of the Commander and her extensive knowledge of American affairs, The General has decided that she shall remain in the United States and carry through the reorganization with its important and far-reaching features. It is intended to help The Army to cope with the increasing demands upon it and to give it the best possible opportunities opening before her in the hands.

The existing Territorial boundaries will be redrawn, and a new Territory to be known as the "Western Territory" with Headquarters at San Francisco, will be created. The present Department of the West will be known as the "Central Territory," while the Territory comprising the Eastern States will continue to be known as the "Eastern Territory."

The new Territorial leaders will be directly responsible to the Commander at National Headquarters in New York City.

In connection with these great reorganization plans, Commissioner Theodora and Colonel W. Pearl have received farewell orders.

sen, who went after the memorabilia of the late General to try to establish the work of The Army in Petrograd. The Russian Prime Minister, Vladimir Sholypin, in a pronouncement which appeared in "The Times" and elsewhere, had practically committed the government to a measure of sanction to Salvation Army propaganda. This sanction not being forthcoming to the extent that was hoped, Commissioner Povisen's task was rendered all the more difficult, and he was obliged to proceed with great caution. Among other means that he used, Mrs. Povisen adopted of making the late Colonel Sholypin's plan to address the drawing-room meetings above mentioned, and Miss Vetsak lent him some assistance with the Russian language.

When war commenced, Miss Vetsak undertook religious work in Petrograd, and was the means of saving from military rule two sisters who were to be cared for by The Salvation Army in Finland.

Before the revolution she went to England for the purpose of perfecting herself in the English language; intending to return to her native land and others to her attendance at Regent Hall, and subsequently to her sister's Articles of War. Through the interest of Staff-Captain Belle, who was then in London, our command was given the opportunity of work at a Women's Social Institution by Commissioner Cox, who influenced her to enter into Office work. Since then she has been working in the same institution a year ago she has assisted at a Women's Social Home in Manchester. Now Captain Vetsak she will be proceeding as circumstances permit to work under Army Flag in her native country. Pending that time she is ministering comfort and cheer to her unfortunate competitors in London.

Mrs. General Booth

Assisted by Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton, Lieut.-Colonel Catherine Booth and Territorial Officers, Conducts Glorious Summer Congress in Stockholm

Series of Magnificent Gatherings, Festivals and Marches—Four Thousand Salvationists Manned for Inspiring Councils and Holy Conflicts—Wonderful Audiences Assembled in Spacious Halls and Attracting Parks—Thrilling Spiritual Battles and Victories—One Hundred and Sixty-eight Seers

Stockholm, Tuesday morning. Graced by the welcome presence, and responsive to the effective leadership of Mrs. General Booth—supported by Lieut.-Colonel Catherine Booth—Sweden's Summer Congress, just concluded, has been attended with happy happenings and laden with blessings. It has abounded with moving enthusiasm, with spiritual display, and, best of all, has been crowned with success at the mercy-seekers at the mercy-seekers at the mercy-seekers.

For six days Stockholm—this proud and alluringly attractive capital of the Sweden—has responded to the magic touch of Salvationism. Our Flag has been saluted by its citizens, the work it represents has been reviewed and honored, and 4,000 of its warrior followers have met to celebrate the victories which have followed in the wake of The General's empowering visit last year, and to greet and gather fresh laurels from the ministrations of the distinguished visitor.

The Congress commenced when Mrs. Booth stepped from the train in Stockholm early morning. She was met by Commissioner and Mrs. Sowton, Sweden's much-loved and busy leaders, and crowds of Officers and soldiers. Mrs. Booth's addresses throughout the Congress were marked by a high level of instruction and generous in blessing. Mrs. Booth, showing no trace of fatigue from her week-end efforts, gave a clear exposition of matters, including of course, the vital it is for every soldier of The Salvation Army to enter into this experience. A further nineteen sessions were registered.

A day of Salvation will be conducted by the Commissioner in the Massey Hall on Sunday, Sept. 5.

Lieut.-Colonel Adby conducted the meetings at West Toronto on Sunday last. Good crowds attended and two persons sought Salvation. Adjutant Montgomery, from England, was also present and gave an address.

Mrs. Commandant Ash has had to undergo an operation in the Windsor (Ont.) Hospital, which has delayed the going of her self and the Commandant to their appointments as District Officers for Bermuda.

Those who cry the loudest have generally the least to sell.

Life! What is it? Ah, who knows! Joy a visit, I suppose! Joy and sorrow for a day. Then, tomorrow, we're away.

Youth and morning! morn'g, noon; Aye, the vanishing night comes! Shines a star to light us then. The star far to home again.

Make me as one that catcheth not by day. A cheery shadow, but reflecting eye. One little beam, level, warmed, and golden; caught. Ray in the bright sun that lights our daily way.

For whom life will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for My sake shall find it.

Denmark's Congress

Crowded Gatherings Conducted in Copenhagen by Commissioner and Mrs. Booth-Tucker—Intense Enthusiasm and 161 Seers

Conducted by Commissioner and Mrs. Booth-Tucker, the Danish Summer Congress attracted more than usual interest and sympathy on the part of the public. It is evident that The Salvation Army is year by year getting a firmer hold of the people's affection, and the eagerness and enthusiasm displayed throughout the proceedings were decidedly marked.

An incident which reflected the warmth of feeling and loyalty to the Flag of the Danish Salvationists was the sending of a cable message to the Lord at the Staff, who was conducting simultaneously the Summer Congress in Norway. It was dispatched by the Territorial Leader, who was formerly in charge in Norway, and read as follows: "Danish Salvationists assembled in Congress send the Chief of the Staff assurances of their love and confidence, and pray for God's abundant blessing on the Norwegian Congress."

The Congress commenced when Mrs. Booth stepped from the train in Stockholm early morning. A further nineteen sessions were registered.

The next Training Session will commence on Sunday, Sept. 19, when the Commissioner and Mrs. Richards will conduct the welcome meeting to the new Cadets at the Toronto Temple.

Adjutant Ella Jaynes underwent an operation in Colours Hospital on Friday, July 23. Remember all our sick comrades at the Thirde of Grace.

Newfoundland's Territorial Commander, Colonel Martin, has just finished a very busy week in connection with financial and other matters affecting the future of the Territory. Lieut.-Colonel Noble, the Financial Secretary, was especially glad to meet to confer with the Colonel on these matters and a great deal of business was done in a short time.

Gain and Loss

There are gains for all who lose. There are pains for all who gain. But when you lose the dream, despair, it takes something from your heart, And it never comes again.

We are stronger, and are better, Under mauls and other matters of fact. Still we feel that something sweet Followed youth, with flying feet, And will never come again.

Something beautiful is vanished, And we sigh for it in vain; We behold it everywhere, On the earth and in the air; But it never comes again.

In the first meetings one caught some idea of the manifold operations and the quality of Salvation fighters in Sweden. Every Division and Department was represented, and each contributed to the dazzling selection of items. We were surprised to see the Life-Saving course in such strength, and their Brass Band did excellently, as did also several musical companies.

Many attractive and uplifting meetings were held on the Saturday. Sunday was a day of big events. Mrs. Booth and Colonel Catherine distributed their energies and efforts, campaigning respectively and simultaneously at Immanuel Church and the Temple, both buildings being crowded to overflowing. It is interesting to note that hundreds of people living at a distance from Immanuel church took part in the meetings, and the ministrations of the distinguished visitor.

The public side of this wonderful Congress ended on Monday—a day full of activity. The morning was spent in "sided" meetings and proposition classes. In the afternoon the Temple was packed to excess for the final Holiness meeting. This was a triumph in instruction and generous in blessing. Mrs. Booth, showing no trace of fatigue from her week-end efforts, gave a clear exposition of matters, including of course, the vital it is for every soldier of The Salvation Army to enter into this experience. A further nineteen sessions were registered.

When Colonel Noble was in St. John's, Nfld., he visited Brother Babcock, one of the oldest Salvationists in the city. He is 82 years of age, and is almost blind. He maintains a cheery spirit, however, and chatted very interestingly to the Colonel on many matters, including of course, the welfare in Newfoundland.

The Colonel also visited the keeper of the Signal Hill, who is a Salvation Army Bandman, and they had a prayer meeting in the famous tower.

The Fine Art of Conversation

Talking is one of the fine arts—the nobler, the more important, the more difficult—and its fluent harmonies may be spoiled by the intrusion of a single harsh note. Talking is like playing on the harp; there is as much in staying the hand on the strings to stop their vibrations as in twanging them to bring out their music.—O. W. Holmes.

Despatches from the Front Line Trenches

Advances All Along the Line

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C.—On July 11 we had our good meetings all day. At night we were led on by Ensign Roe and Captains Evans and Cater. We were with us. We had a gratifying time, and at the close one came forward to a poor weary lackluster. Thank God for victory.—S. B. Goss.

ANYOK, B.C.—The War Cry has not been heard from this tiny little town for quite a while, but we have made up our minds that in the near future we will keep our Western Cry well informed of our doings here. The townsfolk are very generous, open-hearted and kind to us.

The Army here has its advantages. For instance, we have grand opportunities in the open-air of springing the Gospel of the Lord Jesus Christ. We may say that we get our highest congregation in the open air, and praise God for the Army way of taking the Gospel to the people.

Although we have not seen many results, yet we are praying that in the near future many will be brought to Christ. (Regret photos have not reached us.—Ed.)—Jesse Reader, Captain.

NORTH WINNIPEG—Our Band, which is certainly developing under the able conduct of Bandmaster E. Taylor, had charge of the meetings on Band Sunday. In the afternoon they gave an excellent musical program at the Kidman Home. Their efforts were much appreciated.—C. L.

DAUPHIN, Man.—On Monday, July 12, we held our first meeting. The children were conveyed to Dauphin Lake in a motor launch, and the children were given a picnic. It was a good day and everyone thoroughly enjoyed themselves. There were sports and games for the young people and lots of good, honest fun. In the afternoon we all went to the motor-launch. We were enjoyed it.

Much credit is due Sergeant-Major Mrs. Hodder and Sister Mrs. Buckley for much of the success was due to their untiring efforts.

The week-end meetings of July 17-18 were conducted by Staff-Captain Habicht, our Divisional Officer. Instead of the usual inside meeting, we held an Open-air, which was well attended.

Sunday was indeed a good day. From the early morning meeting at the hall until the Salvation meeting at night, God came very near and one day man came and sought pardon. Praise God.

We all hope to have another visit from our D.O. in the near future. The people of Dauphin are also looking forward to another visit from the Winnipeg Citadel. They will be glad to receive a wholehearted welcome.—Redwing.

WINNIPEG VII.—Our meetings on Sunday, July 11, were led by our Commanding Officer, Captain Mrs. Fox. Many comrades are away on holidays, but those who are "holding the fort" turned out in good numbers.

At night we welcomed the Secretary and two daughters. Mrs. Edwards spoke. Mrs. White, Mrs. and Jessie Edwards, who have just arrived from the "Old Land."

WATROUS, Sask.—We have had another visit from our Divisional Officer, Major G. Smith. The Major is always a welcome visitor at Watrous, and this week-end proved to be the "best yet." On Saturday night a large crowd of interested listeners. There was also a good attendance at the Sunday school. The townsfolk are very generous, open-hearted and kind to us.

At night we welcomed the Secretary and two daughters. Mrs. Edwards spoke. Mrs. White, Mrs. and Jessie Edwards, who have just arrived from the "Old Land."

CAMROSE, Alta.—The week-end meetings of July 24-25 were times of great blessing. Lieutenant Doria took the lesson in the Holiness meeting, and spoke of the scripture, "Watch and pray lest ye enter into temptation." One dear comrade consecrated his life to God's service.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask.—We recently had a farewell to Brother and Sister Wilson and family, who for some time have been faithful soldiers here. Our comrades are returning to the "Old Land." They will be greatly missed, both by the Senior and Y.P. Comrades. God is continually with them.

WINNIPEG VI.—On Sunday, July 25, we had a good day. Envy and Mrs. Burr are leading us on in the absence of Captain Fawcett, who is having a much-needed rest. Mrs. Burr took the evening lesson and spoke on the scripture, "Who reject thou that I am?" A real good prayer meeting followed. God came very near to us, and we had the joy of seeing four souls come forward for Salvation and three for Confirmation.

KAMASK, Sask.—We are having good times here at Kamask. On Tuesday, 21st, we had the first visit from our new D.C., Major George Smith. On Tuesday, 21st, we had the first visit from our new D.C., Major George Smith. On Tuesday, 21st, we had the first visit from our new D.C., Major George Smith.

VANCOUVER V.—On Sunday, July 25, nine Young People were enrolled as Junior Soldiers, for which we thank God. At night our Officers, Captain and Mrs. R. Shaw, farwelled, owing to the ill health of the Captain, and going on foot again for a short time. We trust he will soon get strong and be used of God as he has been here. At night different comrades expressed regret at their departure. We finished up a good meeting with our usual altar. Glory to God.—Sister Sadler.

MEVILLE, Sask.—On Saturday, July 17, we had our first Home League Sale since The Army opened up here. The sale commenced at 8 o'clock, preceded by a short service conducted by Major George Smith, who came to Meville especially for this occasion. Mayor Lister, together with a number of other citizens, was present, and gave the Major a very warm welcome to Meville. The sale proved a great success. All the goods were sold, and $75 was realized.

Saturday night we had a rousing open-air. A large number of people of all ages and classes crowded round the ring and drank in the message and the Song of Salvation. All thoroughly enjoyed the Major's speaking and singing.

The meetings all day Sunday were well attended in spite of the warm weather. In the evening the Major spoke very forcibly. At the close of the meeting a collection was taken for the Central and Canadian Children Fund, and $23 was realized.

We are looking forward with pleasure to the Major's next visit.—A. G. Corps Correspondent.

PORT ARTHUR.—On Sunday, July 18, Captain Sharrow led our. At the evening's meeting the devoted Brother and Sister Plunkett, who had enrolled four new soldiers. It was very encouraging to see these comrades taking their first steps under dear old Flak, and testifying that by Jesus they would be true to its colors till they died.

A lady recently came to the Quarter's meeting and declared that she had felt the gift of sin upon her conscience for some time, but living away in the country she had no one to lead her into the way of Truth. She left the Quarters gloriously saved. Hal-luh!

Our Young People's work is on the up grade. We now have four Corps Cadets, and are planning to conduct the meeting every alternate Thursday. The Candidates all expect to enter training this coming season.

On July 14 we had our Y.P. picnic. It was an ideal day and every Junior thoroughly enjoyed themselves. We have added four new Juniors to the roll recently. Lieutenant Mercer is taking great interest in the Y.P. work, and has become a great favorite with the children.—J. P.

WINNIPEG L.—The Sunday meetings were conducted by Commandant and Mrs. Hamilton. Splendid appeals and inside meetings. The Band and the Songsters did good service. At night three souls knelt at the Cross. At 8 p.m. the Band and the Songsters went to the open-air. On Vaughan street with Staff-Captain White, and a splendid Gospel service was held, and no doubt many were touched by the power of God.—J. R. W.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C.—On Sunday, July 25, our Officers, Adjutant and Mrs. Marshall, held their farewell meeting at the open-air. Many comrades outside and in. Our dear Officers have many friends during their two years by the front, and no doubt many have also had the joy of seeing many precious souls at the mercy-seat. Hal-luh!

On Monday, July 26, we had a farewell social. Many comrades and well-wishers of the banding group left the Officers had been to them. There were representative speakers, and the Adjutant dedicated two children of the band to the Lord.

On Wednesday, July 28, a number of comrades went to the depot to wish the Adjutant and his wife God-speed.—P. R.

REFLECTIONS AND IMPRESSIONS

By BRIGADIER G. L. PHILLIPS, Training Principal

In these days when sugar is so expensive it is encouraging to know that most canning and preserving recipes call for altogether too much sugar.

Many people believe that the sugar preserves the fruit. It is the sterilization and then air-tight sealing that make the fruit keep almost indefinitely, so that by lessening the amount of sugar used we do not endanger the keeping qualities.

The first step is to examine the jars and see that there is not the slightest defect or crack in the glass and that the contents are clean and perfect. It is more economical to throw an imperfect jar away than to use it as it will mean the loss of your fruit, sugar and labor. Use new rubbers each year, and the old ones will crack and not keep out the air.

Bleberries.
12 quarts of berries.
1 1/2 pints of sugar.
1 pint of water.
Put water, berries and sugar in the preserving kettle and boil fifteen minutes, counting from the time contents begin to bubble.

Cherries.
6 quarts of cherries.
1 quart of sugar.
1 pint of water.
Measure the cherries after the stems have been removed. Be careful to save all the juice. Put the sugar and water in the preserving kettle and stir over the fire until the sugar is dissolved. Put in the cherries and heat slowly to the boiling point. Boil ten minutes, skimming carefully.

Grapes.
6 quarts of grapes.
1 pint of sugar.
1 gill of water.
Squeeze the pulp of the grapes out of the stems. Cook the pulp five minutes and then rub through a sieve that is fine enough to hold back the seeds. Put the water, sugar and pulp into the kettle and heat slowly to the boiling point. Boil fifteen minutes.

Knowledge unused for the good of others is more waste than unused gold.—J. Ruskin.

Worth Living For
Let me to-day do something that shall
A little sadness from the world's
And say I be so favored as to O'er my too scanty sum a little
Let me not, but by any selfish deed
Nor would I pass, unseeing, worthy
Or sin by whom when I should Howe'er ungrace be my worldly
Let me give something that shall
A word of courage, or a thought of Dropped as I pass for troubled
Let me to-night look back across the "Twain dark and dark, and to my
Because of some good not to be
"That would be better that I lived to-day."

TAKING a retrospective glance at the campaign, one's mind is obsessed with the thought of the tremendous effect the same must and did leave upon all phases of our work. I find some difficulty in specializing any particular branch, as the impact given covered such a wide range.

From the first Council, held in Brandon, to the last meeting in Swift Current, the subject matter of all our Leader's addresses was so pregnant with thought for reflection that the future only could afford its possible results.

The Officers—Rarely has it been my privilege to listen to such expositions of what really constitutes the real fundamentals of The Army. The statement of The Army's doctrine, its purposes and maintenance of its spirit was given in such a forceful manner that, from the oldest veterans to the latest-commissioned Lieutenant, each caught a distinct and new vision of the possibilities of their own consecrated and dedicated effort.

Many were the personal testimonies that came to me unsolicited of the great blessing and satisfaction these Councils proved to be, and of the inspiration the Commission had in our local work in every instance will receive a more generous recognition and The Army will become more firmly entrenched and established.

In closing, I want to bear testimony to the untiring work of every day out of the Commissioner. He stands out as a Leader whose example is infectious and compelling.

Trusting a Father's Care
"How much more shall your Father wish to see you than I do."—Matthew 10:10.
When the Father's care is so great, when they described some scenes and beautiful places growing on the side of a precipitous 200 feet high. Soiling a boy, they offered him a handsome present of money if he would allow himself to be lowered by a rope, and would fill a basket with the flowers. The boy shrank back at first, but remembering the promised reward and the poverty of his parents, said, "I will go if Father holds the rope." Then with a heart strong and bold, he allowed his father to put the rope round his waist and lower him while he filled his basket. The boy's trust in his father's care and strength gave him courage for the deed.

Faith
When Thy fierce tempests rage around my soul—
When Thy scorching seas rise mountains high,
Lashed by the fears—the doubts—
Like flying acid escaped from Thy furnace.
When round my heart, smitten in deepest dole,
Thy arrows—thine—still I see
Thine light—
I knew the clouds will break—the sun will shine,
When Thou hast tried my faith from pole to pole.

The Touch of Power
"And Jesus put forth his hand and touched the leper, and he was clean."—Matthew 8:3.
Someone tells of going into a Jew's shop to look at certain items. Among other stores, he was shown an opal. As he lay there, however, it appeared cold and lifeless. Then the Jew took it in his hand and held it for some moments, and again showed it to his customer. Now it was glowing and beautiful. Many times the Jew took it in his hand and held it for some moments, and again showed it to his customer. Now it was glowing and beautiful. The Deliverance of God
"He shall deliver thee in six troubles, yea, in seven there shall no evil touch thee."—Psalms 124:7.
When the "Stella" was wrecked on the Casquets, in the English Channel, a host of passengers left the wreck in their haste taking no care. Their distress was great when the mistake was discovered. Many turned to tears. One noble Christian woman, who was the captain's wife, was saved, for the captain of a steam tug sent out to find them heard the voice of the "Stella" and sent her to rescue them. PORT ARTHUR. Oct.—Captain Sharrow led our. After a brief but successful stay with us, the Captain led on all day, and at night we had a great Salvation meeting in which many of the soldiers testified to the wonderful blessings they had received during the stay of Captain Sharrow.

Although the Captain was here less than four months she did a great work in building up the Corps. Soles have been saved; converts strengthened and taught to be Blood and Fire Salvationists, and the Young People's work has shown a marked improvement. In spite of the holiday season our numbers have increased.

The Captain in hiding farwelled reviewed her past life as an Officer, and related many experiences of her early days fighting. She charged all present to be true to God and the vows they had taken upon themselves. She spoke especially to the Young People, urging them never to look back but to run up to the opportunity that God had given them to be warriors for Him.

The Lieutenant Mercer is leading us until our new Officers arrive. On July 26-27 we had our new Divisional Commander, Staff-Captain Habicht. The Staff-Captain's visit was much enjoyed by us all, and his singing and lectures have been a means of much blessing. We many away from the hall who would have otherwise been farwelled.

The Staff-Captain arranged to have a storm come on the second evening, which made it impossible to hold an open-air, and which kept a meeting with the Young People, and they were all delighted with his talk, which he illustrated by "A Pilgr's Wheel," "The Cross" and "A Star." Our Juniors all want the Divisional Commander to come again as early as possible.—J. W. P.
